RELIC FROM GETTYSBURG.

Burlington, July 12.—Ex-Gov. U. A. Woodbury, who attended the Vermont Soldiers Home trustees meeting in Bennington yesterday, brought home a very interesting relic of the 12th Vermont regiment in the war for the union in the shape of a leather collar which was found on the field of Gettysburg the day following the battle in which the Vermont troops were engaged. The collar was around the neck of "Old Abe," the 12th Vermont. The 11th did not participate in the engagement as they were guarding the rear, but "Old Abe" wandered away to the 14th and was killed in battle. His dead body was found by a resident of Gettysburg the next day and the collar removed. The finder had it in his possession all these 30 years but at the reunion last week, he hunted up a member of the 12th and presented him with the collar and Ex-Gov. Woodbury secured it when in Bennington. He will eventually place it in the state museum in Montpelier. For a time it will be exhibited at Stannard Post rooms.

The collar bears the following inscription on a brass plate: "Old Abe," presented to the 12th Regiment, Vermont Volunteers by field and staff officers." The collar is made from a wide strip of heavy harness leather and is well preserved.

Members of the 12th remember well their beloved mascot and the unforgetting of this collar will recall vividly the scenes of a half century ago when "Old Abe" played his part with the rest. It will also explain the fate of the dog which up to now has been a mystery.

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS
Rev. S. H. Cain of Bellows Falls has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Baptist church at Woolwich, Me.

The contract for the building of the new hospital and dormitory at the state industrial school has been awarded to T. W. Rogers of Brandon, the lowest bidder. The building will cost about $30,000.

Augustus Brown of West Haven committed suicide recently by taking poison. He was fifty-two years old and is survived by a wife and five grown children. No reason is known for his act unless it was temporary insanity.

E. E. Stanley of Enosburg Falls was severely burned about the face during the celebration of the Fourth between midnight and early morning. A crowd of young men had gathered on Lincoln park, where they had placed in the ground a piece of lead pipe containing powder with a fuse attached. This failed to go off and Mr. Stanley was investigating when it went off, striking him in the face. The fact that he wore glasses probably saved his eye sight.
